SHIP GRAFT CHARGE FALSE, SAYS SCHWAB

SEVEN CONSTABLES KILLED, SIX ARE SHOT TO DEATH FROM AMBUSH NEAR CITY

Sinn Feiners Kill Police Inspector Who Stood Off Mob Last Year.

CITIZEN ASSASSINATED.

Authorities Say Much Trouble Due to Irish Women Carrying Arms to Men.

DUBLIN, Jan. 21.—Yesterday's ambush at Glenwood, in which district Inspector Clarke, a Sergeant and four Constables were killed and a Sergeant and a Constable were wounded, occurred in the afternoon as a party of ten members of the police force were patrolling a road skirted by a wood.

From this cover a strong attacking force poured a deadly fire on the police lorry. The police replied to the fire, but early in the affray Inspector Clarke and five of his men were killed. The remainder continued the fight until two of the four had been wounded. The remaining two appear to have escaped.

The ambushing party took possession of the dead and wounded men's weapons and the ammunition they carried, burned the motor car and disappeared. A strong force of the police and military later searched the whole countryside, but made no arrests.

Inspector Clarke was a native of Lurgan, near Belfast. He lived in the Winnipeg district before the war, joined the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and with three of his brothers, who also were domiciled in Canada, served throughout the war.

John Sullivan was the seventh Sinn Feiner avenger themselves against Sullivan, a police inspector, who stood off an attack by 300 men last May. He was killed yesterday as he stepped from the doors of the Lonsdale barracks.

Two uniformed men were under arrest here to-day charged with assassinating Thomas Lawless in his bed last night.

Authorities gave no information regarding the prisoners as to whether they were members of the Crown forces or not. The men were arrested by the police.

The assassination was another instance of the growing violence in the region of Dublin. The ordinary night shooting, to which the city is accustomed, has been augmented in the last week.

Announcement has been made that in future all motor cars carrying constables, and, therefore, likely to be attacked, will carry members of the Sinn Fein as hostages. This plan has been in operation near

INDICT 60 PLUMBERS FOR CONSPIRACY

They Form One of Hettrick Groups—Ordered to Appear in Court Monday.

Spiegelberg is foreman.

The association is said to be one of a number of such organizations controlled by John T. Hettrick. Deputy Attorney General Spence notified counsel for indicted men to produce them in court before Justice McAvoy at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

SUGAR MEN GET ALL, PEOPLE NOTHING, IN TRICK TARIFF

Fordney Bill So Devised That No Customs Would Be Paid in Its Life.

(Special from a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Evening World, in its initial expose of the real motive behind the Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill, printed on Wednesday, gave only 50 per cent. of the credit due to the cunning of the interests that framed the measure, which is designed to place a tax of $300,000,000 on the sugar consuming public of the United States in order that the beet sugar refiners, the Louisiana cane growers and refiners and the speculators who have immense stocks of sugar on hand may be reimbursed for losses incurred because of bad business judgment.

The opening disclosures in the sugar amendment stated that the United States Government would profit to the extent of about half the total to be exacted from the people in the shape of duties on imported raw sugar. This statement was based on the fact that normally this country, including the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands raise about half the 4,000,000 tons consumed annually and imports the remainder from other countries. The sugar raised in the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands comes in duty free.

But further consideration of this deep and crafty piece of legislation establishes that the Treasury would probably not profit to the extent of a dollar because the Fordney Tariff Bill will automatically halt the importation of sugar which would have to pay duty until such a time as the domestic stock on hand and growing shall be consumed.

The Fordney bill—if it passes—will be effective for ten months. There is sufficient sugar in the country and sufficient duty-free raw sugar will be available to supply the demand for ten months, and no raw sugar paying

SCHWAB ON DECK AT 9 A. M., DENIES SHIP GRAFT CHARGE

Says Statement That His Personal Expenses Were Charged to Board Is False.

DIDN'T GET $1 A YEAR.

Accusation Called Malicious Fabrication by Bethlehem Steel Head.

Charles M. Schwab, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and former Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, indignant at the "innuendoes" he said were contained in Col. Eugene H. Abadie's testimony that a $250,000 voucher had been paid to him for one month's personal expenses and that $100,000 of the amount had been charged to a ship-building account, appeared at the Hotel Pennsylvania at 9:15 o'clock this morning and denied that he had received from the Government a penny of remuneration or reimbursement.

"I got no money whatever from the Government," Mr. Schwab declared emphatically. "I want to make a complete denial of this awful insinuation. I have put my very life into this case (war work), and when I think of this insinuation that has been cast upon me, my regret is so deep that I hardly know how to express myself. I want a denial of this charge made at the earliest possible moment."

"Do you want us to understand that you received no money at all while you were Chairman of the Emergency Fleet Corporation?" Mr. Schwab was asked.

"Why, I didn't even get that dollar a year," Mr. Schwab replied.

"If the accountant actually found a voucher so charged, would it have been with your knowledge?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"Yes," Mr. Schwab replied.

Paul D. Cravath, his counsel, protested that Mr. Schwab could not know every detail of the Bethlehem's business, and the steel man corrected his answer. He said: "No, it would not. I would not have any knowledge of it in the various steps of the Bethlehem Company."

Discussing Col. Abadie's charge that the huge sum for Schwab's alleged personal expenses was assessed against the board, and that a voucher proving this had been discovered while an audit of the board's affairs was being made, Mr. Schwab said:

"This is absolutely, unmitigatedly and maliciously false. There was no charge for personal expenses of mine ever placed against the Shipping Board or the Emergency Fleet Corporation. I defy any one, furthermore, to show any vouchers for my per-

RECOVER $185,000 MAIL TRAIN LOOT

SHOUTING, THREATENING MOBS WITH GIBBET ON WAGON DRIVE PROFITEERS OUT OF VIENNA

While Starving Thousands Parade Streets With Closed Stores, Luxurious Dining Places Are Filled With Spenders.

VIENNA, Jan. 21, 1921.

MOBS, such as formed during the revolution in the streets of Paris, gathered here to-day, sending hundreds of frightened profiteers to the country.

Shouting threats, singing martial airs and rumbling menacingly, the mobs followed wagons on which had been erected great replicas of gallows.

Police officers, augmented by recruits from the former Austrian Army, made no attempt to interfere with the marchers. The latter attempted no violence.

Meanwhile, labor organizations have served an ultimatum on the Government, giving it three days in which to reduce the price of necessities.

From the temper of the crowds which marched through the famous but dilapidated streets to-day it was feared assaults might be made on stores and provision houses and goods would be confiscated. The flight of profiteers left many stores closed. Windows and doors were barricaded.

While thousands of starving persons paraded the streets, hundreds were dining and drinking in something like the old splendor. Those with money spent it recklessly and smart dining places were filled with them, careless of their kronen, accompanied by handsomely gowned and jeweled women.

PATERSON BANDITS HOLD UP JEWELER, GET $25,000 LOOT

Bind a Clerk, Fool a Customer and Get Away in an Auto.

An automobile containing three men stopped this morning in front of R. A. Caplan's jewelry store at No. 33 Main Street, Paterson, and two men got out.

The third remained at the wheel and kept the engine running while the first two entered the store separately.

The first to enter found the clerk, Harry Rosenberg, alone and asked to see some ring settings. Rosenberg turned to get them and when he turned back the second man pointed a revolver at him and ordered "hands up."

Rosenberg hesitated an instant and the first man struck him on the head with a jimmy. The two then took him to the back room and tied him.

They got jewelry, cash and Liberty Bonds worth about $25,000, then ran out to the automobile and got away.

While the robbers were in the store a customer came in. With quick presence of mind they represented themselves as clerks who had just come in for the day's work, and accordingly hung up their hats and coats, going behind the counter. They told the customer that they could do no business, as the proprietor had not yet come in to open the safe. The customer asked how long it would be before they could do business, and they replied that it would only be a few minutes. The customer left and the robbers cleaned out the store.

The robbers just escaped capture as they fled through Gardfield. They were pursued by Sergeant Klune and Patrolman Anderson of the Paterson Police Department, who commanded the automobile of Dr. R. J. Simons of Passaic. When they were within a few hundred feet of the robbers, a tire of the police car blew out.

The robbers headed toward New York and the police all along the line are looking for them.

LAY PLANS TO TAKE JUDGES OUT OF THE PRIMARY CONTESTS

State Bar Association Advocates Putting Appointment in Hands of Governor.

GOV. MILLER PRESENT.

Declines the Chair, Although He Is President, and Does Not Discuss the Proposal.

The New York State Bar Association at its forty-fourth annual meeting at No. 42 West 44th Street, opening a two-day session (here to-day, went on record as favoring legislation that would remove judicial candidates from the operation of the Direct Primary Law and have the power to appoint them vested in the Governor. The Executive Committee with directed to advocate the necessary amendment to the State Constitution.

Gov. Miller, who is President of the State Bar Association and who is scheduled to address that body this afternoon on "Pressing Problems of Government," arrived at this morning session just as the above favorably decided question was under discussion. The debate between the two hundred attorneys gathered from all parts of the State prior to the Governor's arrival had been heated at times. It has been previously stated on the floor of the convention by several attorneys that Gov. Miller contemplated sending a special message to the Legislature covering his views on this question.

Whether or not the Governor's views coincide with the decision of the majority of the association was not learned, for at no time did the Governor enter the debate. Nor would he commit himself afterward.

Former Justice Francis M. Scott of the Appellate Division, First Department, who is Vice President of the association and who was presiding, offered the chair to the Governor, but the Governor refused, saying: "Oh, no, Judge Scott. You continue right where you are. I shall play spectator."

At this point, Frederick W. Hinrichs moved for the second time the resolution.

Another resolution had been introduced by Meier Steinbrink, which was declared not germane.

Mr. Hinrichs' proposal on motion of George L. Ingraham, former Justice of the Appellate Division, was then referred to the Executive Committee with instructions to report back at the next annual convention.

The disaster was seen by Capt. Robinson, commander of the municipal ferryboat Manhattan, and his 2,000 passengers as his craft was on its way to St. George. LANDS FROM PLANE; HAS GIRL WITH HIM

Craft That Comes Down Near Buffalo Is Canadian—Both Occupants Vanish.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BUFFALO, Jan. 21.—An airplane bearing the insignia of the Royal Canadian Flying Corps was forced to land in a field near Buffalo yesterday. The wildly careening machine brought workmen nearby to the scene and they helped out a youth wearing the uniform of the Canadian force. As soon as he was on the ground he gave a hand to his companion and a young lady stepped out.

"I am a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force making an official trip from Toronto to Memphis, Tenn," he said. "I'll be back after the machine to-morrow." Neither he nor his companion has returned. The plane bore the Royal Canadian Flying Corps insignia and these letters "C-Garb."

Canadian officials seized the plane a little later, charging a violation of the law in entering the country without the payment of duty.
